

Level 3 Supply Chain Practitioner (FMCG) Apprenticeship

Course Overview

Supply chain practitioners will have a broad understanding of the entire supply chain and must strive to ensure their impact on each function offers best value for their organisation and internal and external stakeholders. The purpose of this occupation is to move products/services from supplier to customer. Supply chain functions include procurement, forecasting, planning manufacture, customer service and logistic. Wider skills developed through this apprenticeship are effective communication, negotiation and influencing skills, effective time management, analytical skills alongside information technology and numeracy skills.

This is a work-based Apprenticeship, you will learn through on and off the job activities. Meeting regularly with your appointed assessor to gain knowledge and demonstrate skills and behaviours.

What You Will Study

This apprenticeship covers KSB (knowledge (know it) skills (show it) & behaviours (live it).

The above will be shown through evidence collected and produced by you. The KSB are embedded into Duties.

There are 14 duties in total and each duty maps directly to a KSB.

Example of duties include:

- Coordinate products and services through the supply chain
- Apply a structured approach to solving problems within the supply chain
- Compile reports to support the supply chain function
- Use Data management systems to support supply chain operations

Attendance Expectations

This is a work-based course, although you may be required to attend sessions to learn concepts relating to Supply Chain Practitioner in agreement with your employer. Attendance to these sessions, where applicable, will support your achievement of the Apprenticeship.

If you are undertaking Functional Skills as part of your Apprenticeship, you will be required to attend College for a block week of teaching, per Functional Skill subject. This will be discussed at your enrolment and induction.
